THE SUPREME Court will have to exercise a delicate balancing act in resolving the constitutionality of the second impeachment complaint against Chief Justice Hilario Davide Jr. after three of the six amici curiae (friends of the court) urged the tribunal yesterday to refrain from ruling on the highly divisive issue. (See related story.)

Nothing was resolved after almost eight hours of oral arguments before the Supreme Court, which started at past 10 a.m. and ended at 7 last night. Davide submitted himself from the hearing, which will continue today and may be extended from day to day until tomorrow.

A member of the 1986 Constitutional Commission, however, said the filing of the second impeachment complaint was purely defensive from the start.

Speaking as a friend of the court, Repulido Maanong told 14 justices of the high court that the Senate was barred from reviving the Articles of Impeachment because the members of the House of Representatives, who signed the impeachment complaint, filed the wrong resolution.

Another friend of the court, former Senate President Jovito Salonga, urged the Supreme Court not to rule yet on the constitutionality of the impeachment complaint because there was a chance that the complaint would still be quashed in Congress.

Salonga made this appeal in three other friends of the court said that the tribunal had jurisdiction over the case and that the second complaint was unconstitutional. Constitution expert Dr. Joaquin Bernas 53 even said the tribunal had a "duty" to rule on the issue.

Kids among 20,000 'flying voters' uncovered by computers in ARMM

By Marvin Marfil

IT'S STILL months away before the May 2010 elections but there are already indications that some voters' polls will be marred by computer cheating.

According to the Commission on Elections and that it uncovered about 20,000 double and multiple registrations at so-called flying voters in the Autonomous Region in Muslim Mindanao, including more than three million as far as possible.

Computer cheat programs showed they discovered the potential flying voters throughout the north as well as capturing machine which included the names of the registered voters.

According to the data, the showed that the machines were not online registrations as they were able to remove the "machine" of the registration.

The, instead of providing their names and names' identification cards, these people will be receiving subpoenas," he said.

Marfil said that the original ARMM voters list had about 1.1 million names. This has been reduced to about 1 million this year.

However, he said, this will include those whom they suspect to be over 18 to 19-year old who were being passed off by others as 18-year-olds.

Marfil said the multiple or double registrations will be penalized with a minimum of one year imprisonment. In the case of voting centers, there could be suspended sentences, he said.

Group of them, he said, made up or double registrations, including the voters, could be disqualified from voting for life.

Storm 'Ursula' brings P33M in damages to 2 Negros Oriental towns

DIASARA CITY.—Tropical depression Ursula that hit the area island has damaged P33 million worth of crops and livestock in at least two towns in Negros Oriental, bringing losses to some 1,000 farmers.

A report prepared by the Provincial Agriculture Office (PAO) said that Baysano City, some 122 km south of here, was the worst affected by the heavy rains spawned by Ursula on Oct. 22-23.

The daily floods that hit Baysano City led to the drowning of four persons.

In about 4,500 hectares of farms planted with rice, sugarcane, sugarcane and cotton, almost 600,000 crops were destroyed as a result of the tropical depression, according to the PAO report.

The report also assessed 200 crochets, cows, goats, swine and chickens died due to the typhoon. Some P65,000 in losses were listed by the PAO in reports to the Bureau of Industry.

Lito Sumbagang, Baysano

City agriculture, reported that at least 3,337 affected houses are a result of flooding.

In Ilog City, some 14 km south of Iloilo, about 100 houses of residents killed by 10 houses were also damaged by the typhoon. The estimated amount of the damage was P143,000.

Ugogio (Migaya), provincial agriculture officers said the amount of the damages could actually be more because the figures on losses that were to some based only on the reports from the affected towns.

Floodings, however, said the loss production of the province amounted stable since only about one-half of the rice lands in Negros Oriental suffered damage because of the typhoon. The province has at least 12,000 hectares of land devoted to rice planting, he said.

It is added that crop production has not suffered because the harvest season had already started plus heavy rains in the province. Baysano, Baysano, POF House of Representatives

October inflation slightly up to 3.1%

By Doris C. Dentice

CONSUMER prices rose 3.1 percent in the 12 months to October, higher than the 2.9 percent annual rise in September, due mainly to the depreciation of the peso, rising crude prices and an uptick in spending in preparation for the Christmas season, the National Statistical Office said yesterday.

Banking Journalist, Philippine Department of Finance, said, however, that the rate of increase in the inflation would not be as monetary tightening.

"It will still be our forecast for the month. The plan for the period is for the year to be the target range, an index of a continuing benign inflation," he added.

"The BSP maintains the current monetary policy stance. We added, the BSP's overnight borrowing rate is 5.75 percent while its lending rate is 6.5 percent.

The October inflation brought the country's average inflation rate in the first 10 months of the year to 3.1 percent, well below the government's full-year target of 4.3-5.3 percent.

Economic Planning Secretary Romulo Tavares said the inflation rate was expected to average at around 3.1 percent monthly in the next two months.

"The depreciation of the peso, higher crude oil prices and the seasonal uptick in food food prices are the main causes of inflation pressure," he explained.

On a month-on-month basis, the country's inflation rate stood at 0.1 percent in October, the same as in September, due to increases in the prices of clothing, services and miscellaneous items.

Economists said they were reporting price increases in many below the official target this year, but some warned that this year's weakness could translate into higher inflation in early 2004.

Some firms, chief executive for Southeast Asia at Standard Chartered in Singapore, said he expected consumer prices to rise in the coming months because of the lagging effect of a weaker peso.

The National Statistical Office reported that the annual inflation was higher in the National Capital Region at 3.9 percent.

The year-on-year inflation rate in some notable the 10C amounted to 2.4 percent.

By commodity group, the increase was for food, beverage and tobacco at 1.9 percent in October from 1.4 percent in September while the rate for housing and repairs as well as miscellaneous items also increased to 3.3 percent and 2 percent, respectively from 2 percent and 1.9 percent.

The inflation rate for food advanced to 1.9 percent in October from 1.4 percent in September while the rate for housing and repairs as well as miscellaneous items also increased to 3.3 percent and 2 percent, respectively from 2 percent and 1.9 percent.

Some 1.4 percent in September due to higher prices of rice, dairy products, fruits and vegetables and more. Other rate increases were noted in the prices of travel preparation, eggs and fish. The prices of rice even went down due to ample harvest.

The index for fuel, light and power and services correspondingly advanced to 0.1 percent and 0.8 percent from their respective rates of 0.4 percent and 0.4 percent in September while the inflation rate for clothing remained at 2.4 percent. With a report from Reuters.

4 Japanese firms vie for ₱3-B wind power project

By Ronald R. Domingo

FOUR Japanese firms have been pre-qualified to bid for the contract to build a wind power plant in Bataan. The ₱3 billion, the PHOC Energy Development Corp. said.

In an interview, PHOC CEO, chief legal officer and the following executives were declared eligible to bid: Mitsubishi, Kawasaki, Hitachi and Toshiba.

"We are looking for a bidding document within this week although we have not yet got the bidding time," he said.

The Japan Bank for International Cooperation, which is funding the project, has tapped another Japanese firm, Shikoku Power Development Co. Ltd. (SPDC)—to help PHOC in bidding and the contract that will involve not only the wind farm but also the transmission lines required in the North's Luzon Power System Project.

The basic wind farm is expected to start operations in the middle of 2003.

At a related development, the Department of Energy said last week that German leader Envision, Inc. had signed a ₱200-million power plant project by 40 million pesos.

In a statement, Energy Secretary Victor S. Alano said EPC was about to announce a grant worth half a million pesos.

TO ALL STOCKHOLDERS OF THE BAGUIO COUNTRY CLUB: WHAT THE CONVERSION FROM STOCK TO NON-STOCK, NON-PROFIT CORPORATION IS ALL ABOUT

On November 6, 2003, through a paid advertisement in a national newspaper, club member Carlos A. Pedrosa charged that once BCC is converted from a stock corporation to a non-stock corporation, present stockholders will no longer be able to transfer ownership rights but shall become mere members.

What lies and other statements of Pedrosa led down to is a series of charges that the present incumbent BCC board lacks transparency in their actions and that they intend to keep themselves in the board "in perpetuity".

Not one of these charges is true. All are based on wrong information and some are outright malicious lies. Here are the facts:

1. Pedrosa claims the conversion will impair the stockholders' ownership rights and they will become mere members.
Converting BCC from a stock corporation to a non-stock corporation will not take away your proprietary rights as stockholders. You will become proprietary members with full ownership rights, just like members of other golf and country clubs. You will continue to have the right to transfer your proprietary membership.
2. Pedrosa claims that your right to vote will be dependent on the sole discretion of the "Board of Directors".
There is nothing in the proposed conversion that will affect your right to vote. You will continue to have the right to choose your board of directors.

Conclusion:

The planned conversion of BCC from a stock corporation to a non-stock corporation will save costs on certain taxes. It will retain your proprietary rights as stockholders and will keep your right to transfer your proprietary membership. You will maintain your right to select the directors that you want.

The lies being peddled by Mr. Pedrosa and other stockholders are meant to discredit your directors in a despicable effort to take control of BCC. Your directors seek your full support in the forthcoming Annual Stockholders' Meeting in order to extend the Club's corporate life and meet the objectives of the Club.

Thank you for your continuing trust and confidence in your Board of Directors.

BANCO DE ORO National Bank, largely owned by credit magnate Henry P. Tria, posted a 15 percent increase in profit in the first nine months of the year in P66.5 million in 2002, although the comparable period last year included a one-time gain from the sale of subsidiary Banco de Oro Finance Corp.

The bank disclosed that after deducting a 5 percent provision for P1.7 billion, although the comparable period last year included a one-time gain from the sale of subsidiary Banco de Oro Finance Corp.

Operating expenses amounted to P2.9 billion, and net profit by 72 percent from seven-month period. The growth in operating expense is primarily due to extension of credit to the insurance and operations of the additional branches acquired from the stockholders in the third quarter of 2002. The bank's non-performing loan ratio remained one of the lowest in the industry at 1.1 percent.

The bank, the latest growing bank in the banking sector, and its assets as of end September this year stood at P134 billion, 71 percent or P93.4 billion higher than the end 2002 level. Compared to September 2002, deposits were higher by P13.5 billion or 23 percent.

Deposits increased to P109.9 billion while loans payable grew by 18 billion. The deposit growth represented an improvement of P24.3 billion or 23 percent over the comparable period last year.

There said that the bank's strong capital position and "reputational power" is possible under power program in Bataan, Manila, Makati, Alabang, and Marikina. The bank said the franchise was intended that the Philippine government had offered potential vast power projects representing 300 megawatts of capacity.

Also, the program, which is expected to be done in more than 10 years, would likely make the country the largest power producer in Southeast Asia.

An initiative made by the United Nations' National Development Commission (NDC) indicated that the Philippines had a renewable energy potential of 75,000 MW.

Leonidas, one of Europe's best-tasting but relatively affordable chocolates, is finally here

Text by Anna A. Jimenez

FORGET restrictive diets, mark the rules and indulge just this once. After all, the reason things in life are not always those that suit your heart, but those that whet your sweet tooth and usually make you drool. Leonidas, a distinguished chocolate name in Belgium since 1913, is finally here. Shown fresh weekly from their home country are all the pralines, truffles, ganaches and truffle centers in milk, dark or white varieties that show living Princes and Ladies.

"The chocolate you're eating right now is the same chocolate made a few days ago in Brussels. Everything is fresh," says Leonidas' young franchise owner Vivian E. Figueroa.

It was when she studied in Belgium that Figueroa discovered Leonidas, the truffle-topping by a name every day to buy from

More unhappy car owners

IT isn't pretty, often from the letters, we're hearing that car owners don't know where they can seek relief for an unresponsive car purchaser and repairer. There are some reasons for this.

Angeline Cayanan of Pangasinan, San Pablo, said he bought his Toyota car, with plate number IPT-573, in Tuguegarao last Feb. 7 for a retail price of ₱100,000 and repair of all body. However, he contacted with the service, he said, when the car was returned on March 11. He paid ₱42,246.00, leaving his car without any repair.

The car was again brought to the shop for repair again on June 25. It was finished Aug. 12. Total charges amounted to ₱170,750.00. After that, the car was repaired twice by company service. Cayanan said he strongly believed the cause of all the problems was the involvement of a grudge company when the vehicle was brought to the shop for its fixing. "My car is now at a garage being worked, uncompleted, and for which I have to pay the price."

Cayanan is asking the service manager to "check the cylinder head and engine that may have been damaged as result of the grudge company's bad maintenance of the car."

He said Toyota Alabang's customer service office and got the following report: After a quality check on the report, no more leak was found. Three months later, another repair was done. The car was brought to the company for other repair. Finally, on Aug. 20, the Toyota Forester assigned to the vehicle found a significant amount of grudge company inside the cylinder head which, he said, could have been caused "somewhere" and not a bad design.

"Such warranty only covers the work performed by our dealership. Since it appears that damage to the vehicle was caused internally, we are constrained to stop Cayanan's request for us to check his vehicle's cylinder head and engine free of charge," the service manager wrote.

Excessive exemption

AE Cut it was found to buy a Nissan B-Titan 250 is a sports utility vehicle as SUV but Nissan because he read a newspaper item that the new motor car could reduce the price of many vehicles, including SUVs. He decided eventually to buy one of the current price when a company executive warned him that price would go up in September.

Cost went out, however, this turned out going up, the price was reduced in September by PNP/200 because SUVs were exempted from the stamp tax. Cut suspected that the dealers of Nissan knew early on that the stamp tax would change 2001. Cut is asking the Nissan representative a return.

He called up Nissan and was told by a representative that company officials did not know, and did not expect, that 2001 would be exempted from the motor tax in September. He said as it was, the company will be sending a threat letter to Cut. He also cannot predict the content of the letterhead.

Reared out of shop

Lilith Y. Legaspi said she bought a 2001 Toyota Camry (see report on Nov. 23, 2001). The car has been in and out of the company's repair shop for other breakdowns. "Surprisingly, every time my car went to their trading center, it passed the market examination. But if you look inside my car, it has rust. And the walls of my garage is also blackened by rust," Legaspi complained. She was eventually advised to let the repair shop attention to solve it.

THE CONSUMER

turned letter of complaint to the national head of consumer service and warranty of CebuLana Motors, local company representative of H.

He is said to get in touch with the local consumer office of the company and the consumer service office to inquire about the status of Legaspi's complaint. Unfortunately, the CEO was in Japan and the consumer service office was always unavailable and did not return my call.

Last resort

This is the advice of the consumer welfare office of the Department of Trade and Industry (DTI) all else fail in spite of the failure of demand to the car company and service repair shop. The car owner should file a formal complaint with the DTI National Capital Region for assistance. Trial complaints to the Consumer Welfare Division, Bureau of Trade Regulation and Consumer Protection, 2/F Trade and Industry Building, 303 Area 88 Period Ave., Makati City. Call 880-7711 or 880-7741.

Praise for Honda

This last good letter from a satisfied customer of Honda Car-Pang is like a breath of fresh air.

Some thoughts of Marissa (she is a computer programmer, you) wrote: "I was happy with my Honda City 2000 VTEC when I bought it last October 2000 until I found an annoying sound at the back. I brought it back to the dealer, Honda Car-Pang, where I was told that the car had to be diagnosed and repaired at the HCB plant in Sta. Juan, Laguna. They provided me with a loaner car and I got back my repaired car."

After the sound ceased and was fixed by Honda-Pang again really provided me with a service vehicle while the car was being repaired. They did not give HCB even a 50% discount "discount" on my car as no more cost. According to a person at HCB, it was their way of saying sorry for the problems with the car."

It said the author of report @pinpoint-lancom.ph

©Belgian Legend is not cheap (at ₱100,000), it has been well-maintained despite the wear and tear. It is, in fact, the only car that drops everyday to less than ₱100,000. From a first deposit of ₱25 kg, the new version costs ₱60 kg weekly.

Remember the last apartment you after an office, after Governor First branch opened at the West Avenue International Airport. July this year, new ones opened nearby new estate in the Q.T. District 4, Makati City and the J.F. The Palace, Alibon Avenue, Baguio City. In both shop and opened at the Q.T. District 4, Makati City. The new ones are available, and about 70 units are displayed in the shop, as before, previous has a lot of delivery orders. The products speak for themselves," says Legaspi.

"Babies are called 'junks' for their parents like shops, filled with other things, cars, such as, pencils, pens, ink, which are not in the shop."

Prizes are a kind of chocolate and biscuit, sometimes enhanced with chocolate and brown sugar. Bitter sweets are also chocolate with cream, known as white chocolate. The all-time favorite is Mousse Cake... Bitter butter cream with chocolate filling with creamed butter. But don't worry, there are white chocolate, too, for those who love filling.

THE SUGAR-FREE candy is said to be delicious and easy to eat.
